Presented by Outpost for Contemporary Art

Established in 2004 as a non-profit organization, Outpost for Contemporary Art does not have a fixed location but instead develops and facilitates its art programs in a variety of contexts and settings. Outpost is picking up “Post-Postcard” as an annual tradition that began in 1996 at Four Walls in San Francisco and that was conceived of by artist Tim Jag.

All revenue generated during this three-day event will support participating artists and Outpost and its programs.
